

Community Development PiP Programme

Want to change the lives of individuals, families, and communities?

The purpose of the programme is to produce competent, effective, and informed practitioners who are capable of:

- developing cross-cutting solutions to complex societal problems
- working across professional boundaries with communities, organisations and bodies, and receiving project guidance (including asset mapping)
- exploring how social work and community development practices can be integrated in a context of risk, uncertainty, conflict, and contradiction
- developing critical understandings of power, inequality, social injustice, diversity and inclusion, leadership, partnership-working, co-design, and co-production.

Achieve your PiP Specialist Award

Develop your career

Progress to master's level

"I now assess at the community level, as well as the individual level. Understanding the root causes of issues and intervening before the societal issue arises."

"This course has transformed my practice. Learning about radical social work was excellent!"

Scan below to hear stories of community development

Watch Rays Story

Watch Thomas Story

Course Days

Blended approach to learning
This UU course runs each year from Sept-May, with 12 teaching days and 9 study days

Interested?

Limited funded places are available across organisations and sectors. Talk to your social work training lead today.

Contact

Una.Gildernew@southerntrust.hscni.net